Cocoon Waste Receptacle

The Cocoon waste receptacle has a playful design, one that will make a bold statement through color and shape in any environment. This product can offer a unique effect by using a translucent white body with colored tops and liners; this combination creates a soft colored glow that will be seen through the translucent body.

Cocoon is suitable for indoor and outdoor environments. The unit is slightly broader at the bottom than at the top offering stability through its distinctive cocooning design. Standard units include a polyethylene body, top and liner. Extra weight can be added in the base if specified.
